MANDOLIN CLUB MET AT PEATE'S STUDIO
Many favorable comments were heard at the Mandolin Club practice held at Peate's Studio last night. The enthusiasm has never been equalled since Mr. Peate has been director.
There were some twenty-five members present, among whom were many newcomers, who made an excellent showing.

W. F. EMMONS GIVES TALK ON POISONS
Ancients Had Extensive Information on This Subject
DR. TAIT PRESENT
Gruesome Stories of Old Travellers and Soldiers Left as Records

The meeting of the Physiological Society held in the Biological Building last night, proved to be a great success. Dr. S. Forster, Med. '25, President of the Society, opened the meeting. After the usual routine business was completed and the president called upon Mr. W. T. Emmons, M.Sc., to read a paper.
Mr. Emmons, in opening, stated that he wished to correct a false impression. The subject of the paper was not merely "Poisons", as announced by the "Daily", but "The Use of Poisons by Primitive Peoples." The speaker, therefore, advised his hearers not to use these methods in getting rid of their unwelcome mothers-in-law, etc., as they were somewhat out of date.
The extent to which the ancients were acquainted with the use of poisons is, indeed, interesting. As many poisons are obtained from vegetables of bright color and peculiar taste, it is, indeed, natural that they should attract the attention of primitive people. The peculiar sources to which these people attributed the results of the poisons is, indeed, amazing. In some cases death was due to the poison which was applied, and the savages recognized this fact. In other cases the results were attributed to some deity; and in still other cases death was attributed to the kumien poison when it was really due to infection from some dead carcass.
Among the ancients the knowledge of poisons was restricted to a few who were (Continued on Page Two)

STUDENTS SOCIETY WILL MEET TODAY
Opportunity Will be Given for Suggestions

A record attendance is expected at the meeting of the Students' Society, which will be held at 5 p.m. in the Union today. R. L. Hamilton will be in the chair, and other members of the Students' Council will be present. The financial report will be considered and passed. A great opportunity will be afforded for discussion and suggestions.
It is not known exactly what will take place, but very many questions of interest are expected to be dealt with. This will afford students the opportunity to have any complaints considered. The past policy of the Society will be discussed and its future programme formulated.
The hour at which the meeting is held gives very little excuse for non-attendance, and as it concerns all students an interesting hour is expected.

HARRIER TEAM IN FAST WORKOUT

Yesterday the Harrier team took the initial trip over the long course. Running at an easy pace, the squad kept together for the first four miles, when the leaders opened up. There was a good crowd of the endurance men out. Capt. Wiggins and Stephens are still on the track. Legg, one of the leaders at the games, is still on the cinders, but it is expected that he will be one of the main supports of the team this year.
Egerton is another harrier who is still running the distance run on the track. Bishop, Antcliff, Champion and Grimson, all but the last of whom were on the squad last year, are among the faster men out. Grimson is a veteran at road running and will probably be one of the best new men out. Hambly is another new-comer who, with a bit more exercise, should be able to cover the run in good time.
With the meet in Montreal this year the team has an opportunity to come through with a win. The locals should know the course well and know when to open up, on it, which is a factor to be considered.
There is a large squad and it is expected that the first of a series of competitions will be held after the intercollegiate track meet.

THE PLACE OF PSYCHOLOGY IN A CAREER

Dr. Tait Will Address Psychological Society
OPENING MEETING
Meeting Will be Thrown Open for Discussion

Tonight, at eight o'clock, the Psychological Society will commence its activities for the year by holding an open meeting in the Strathcona Hall.
Dr. Tait, Associate Professor of Psychology, and Honorary President of the Society, will be the speaker of the evening, and will deliver an address on "The Place of Psychology in a Career."
The executive of the Society has worked hard to make this a banner year, and if the programme for the first two meetings is any criterion they have certainly succeeded. It must be remembered that Psychology is practically a new science as far as extensive research is concerned; but it is coming to the fore rapidly, and addresses such as it will be the good fortune of the psychologists to hear tonight will do much to foster its development.

SCIENCE GRADUATE IS DEPUTY MINISTER

Douglas Lauchlin McLean, B.Sc., A.M.E.I.C., who graduated with honors in civil engineering from the Faculty of Applied Science in 1909, has been appointed deputy minister of public works for the Province of Manitoba. Mr. McLean was born at Ottawa on August 20th, 1885, and after attendance at the Ottawa public school and Collegiate Institute, spent a year on the National Transcontinental, following which he came to McGill, where he was popular with his fellow students.
Following graduation he became assistant to Mr. J. B. McRae, M.E.I.C., hydraulic engineer, and later was assistant chief engineer for the International Commission. He was then appointed chief engineer of the water power surveys of the Winnipeg rivers. Department of the Interior. At the time of the present appointment Mr. McLean was chief engineer of the Manitoba Drainage Commission. Mr. McLean is an enthusiastic McGill graduate and takes an active part in the engineering profession, being an associate member of The Engineering Institute of Canada, and taking a prominent part in the affairs of the Winnipeg branch of the Institute.

DAILY MEN.
Daily reporters are requested to either phone or call at the Daily office on the days that they are listed for work as soon after 1 o'clock as possible, in order that they may be given assignments for the afternoon and evening. The days that have been assigned to the men appear in another column of this issue.

TENNIS MEET WILL BE HELD IN KINGSTON

McGill Team Composed of Veterans
OCTOBER 19TH—21ST
Freshman From Ottawa Shows Up Well in Tournament

McGill has always been noted for the number of stellar tennis players she has produced. This year is no exception and the team which will represent McGill in the intercollegiate series is composed of men who have played on former champion teams.
The intercollegiate meet will be held in Kingston on October 19th, 20th and 21st. At this meet McGill, Queen's, Toronto and R.M.C. will be represented. The first meet since the war was held at McGill in 1919, and in 1920 the meet was at Toronto. In both these years McGill was successful.
Last year the meet was in Montreal, but owing to inclement weather Varsity was unable to send her team in time for the meet. The competition was therefore between McGill, R.M.C. and Queen's, from which McGill emerged successfully. Later the locals also defeated Varsity. The McGill team this year will be composed of W. F. Crocker, C. N. Ramsay, D. Morrice, P. L. Douglas, L. W. Brown and M. MacDougall. With the exception of Crocker, all these men were members of last year's team. Crocker, who is the amateur champion of Ontario and Quebec, was a member of the 1920 team. D. Morrice also was Junior Champion of Canada several years ago.
In the tournament now taking place T. M. Brown, a freshman from Ottawa, has shown up very well, but was not able to make a place on the team.
With such a team and such a record McGill will, in all probability, be successful in defending her title.

REPORTERS CHOSEN FOR THE DAILY

The Permanent Staff for This Year's Work is Announced

During the past few weeks the managing board of the Daily have watched carefully the work of the new men who have been trying out for permanent positions on the college paper and in the list which appears further on in this write-up will be seen the names of the men who have been chosen. Many new men do not seem to realize the responsibility that rests upon them in connection with their work on the Daily. About five or six men are listed for work each night and if for any reason two or three out of these six do not appear on a certain night it not only results in the Daily going to press much later than usual but means that extra work is thrown on the men who are on the staff that night. If for any reason a man finds it impossible to be at the Daily on the night for which he is listed he should inform the managing editor, who will then be able to get a nother man to take his place for that week.
It would facilitate matters greatly if the men would either call at the Daily office or phone between the hours of one and two on the days that they are on the staff. Assignments will then be given to them for the afternoon and evening. Men covering afternoon assignments are expected to bring their write-ups in not later than 7.30 at night and then are to assist the night editor in making up the paper for the night.
The following is the list of reporters and the nights to which they have been assigned:—
SUNDAY—In charge, A. J. Smith. Staff, A. D. Starke, J. H. Goldsmith, H. N. Bronson, A. L. Gravel, F. H. Yorston.
MONDAY—In charge, L. Levinson. Staff, H. C. Hayes, R. V. Merry, S. C. Scobell, A. Usher, F. M. Godine.
TUESDAY—In charge, S. L. Read. Staff, C. Coleman, N. Fish, A. F. Moore, J. C. Calder, E. D. MacLeod, W. Sharples, A. W. Case.
WEDNESDAY—In charge, R. F. Ogilvy. Staff, W. P. Malone, T. H. Harris, C. L. Copland, T. Newton, H. H. MacMillan, G. J. Barry.
THURSDAY—In charge, L. C. Tombs. Staff, W. F. Shepherd, K. B. Carson, J. C. Gelineau, W. A. Mace, H. Galley.
FRIDAY—In charge, E. M. Woolcombe. Staff, E. A. Gardner, R. A. Shackell, W. B. Potter, F. O. McNamara, A. Cantero.

MONTREAL, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1922.

CRITICISM AND THE STUDENTS' SOCIETY.

In that great outside world, for which we are preparing, there is in existence an indescribable, an important but at times a dangerous thing known as politics. It is to be found in all civilized nations throughout the world and, strange to say, it bears the ear marks of similarity. But, as politics are more or less alike in character, so they are subjected to similar criticisms and many citizens of all nations raise their voices in a worldwide cry of despair, insinuating that politics and those is political realms are corrupt and rotten. These "good souls" appear to take great delight in hurling bitter accusations at their respective governments, tearing down the good with the bad and throwing into the discard achievements and failures alike.

However, upon investigation it is usually discovered that these people have no sound political ideas and that they are not in reality cognizant of the facts. Moreover, if they themselves were asked to enter the political world they would, in all probability, refuse, excusing themselves on the grounds of respectability, fearing to become tainted with the so-called mire and filth of politics. Little do they realize that they are the cause of corruption for they refuse to work for the best and have no practical ideas for the betterment of the state. They are destructive critics and as such are mill-stones about the neck of a nation. They hinder progression and block the road to a more happy state of affairs.

McGill may be called, to some extent at least, a replica of a civic community, for we too have our business affairs, our educational interests, our social attractions and our political life. We stage our elections and are governed by our representatives, who hold office on that important body, the Students' Council.

To-day the Students' Society (a miniature electorate) will gather to discuss the financial reports of the Council and it is the duty of every undergraduate to attend, for this is the only real way in which we can obtain a true insight into the workings of our governing body. The Council has its successes and its failures, but its members are always ready and willing to listen to the constructive suggestions of those who have taken the trouble to become familiar with the actual state of affairs in existence.

Do not let your ideas and thoughts be of a destructive nature but come to the meeting this afternoon and listen to FACTS. Form constructive ideas and let them be known to the members of the Council. It is only by this spirit of co-operation that student politics may be bettered and that this student community may reach a condition nearer perfection.

F. EMMONS GIVES TALK ON POISONS

powers among the people. In fact, in some cases this gave rise to a class of professional poisons. In certain old states poison was one of the legal means of putting criminals out of the way. The most noted case is that of Socrates, the philosopher, who was forced to drink a draught of hemlock. An interesting case was cited in which Jewish women gave drinks of certain poison to men who were crucified after they were taken down from the cross. The poison had the effect of reviving the victims, who afterwards made their escape. This gave rise to the custom of breaking the legs of the unfortunate man, while still on the cross.

The use of poisoned arrows is well known. The Spaniards in their various wars against the natives of Africa and America met with some gruesome methods. Records of travellers and soldiers show the amazing ingenuity of the savages in devising means to bring about death. Thus death was sometimes painless and sometimes of a horrible nature. The poisons were very often prepared by the priests of the tribes, who regarded this as a solemn rite. One peculiar point in connection with the American Indians is that nearly every tribe had some particular poison which it used almost exclusively. The Indians have always connected the toad and the frog with the idea of poison. One instance of this is on record. The Indians kept a stock of frogs in a cave until wanted. When wanted they took one and ran a sort of spear through the mouth to the hind foot. The pain caused a secretion to appear on the back which was rubbed on the arrows, and which gave them deadly effect. Recent investigation by scientists corroborate this statement.

Another strange instance of the savages turning poisons to their own use was given by Mr. Emmons. A certain poisonous root was taken and after being beaten was soaked in water. This was introduced into a small stream or river. The result was that the fish were in some cases killed and in others so stupefied that they proved to be an easy prey of the savage. The flesh of the fish was in no way harmed by the poison. A vivid account of a fishing expedition carried on in this manner is given by a traveller in Genaria. These are not mere travellers' tales, as they have been supported by scientists.

Among the North American Indians the poisons were in the hands of the medicine men.

Mr. Emmons gave a sketch of that wonderful weapon used by savages, the blow-pipe. This pipe is constructed with the greatest of ingenuity and proves to be an extremely dangerous and efficient weapon.

In closing, Mr. Emmons said that the greatest credit was due to the savages, who had given us the first data concerning the use and powers of poison.

Prof. John Tait congratulated Mr. Emmons on the able and interesting manner in which he presented his subject. Prof. Tait then went on to give several amusing anecdotes connected with the subject, which were greatly appreciated by the Society.

With regard to the use of the library of the Society, a notice of the days and hours when books may be borrowed and returned will be posted in the Medical Buildings at an early date.

NOTICE.

The Radio Club will meet in the Physics Building, Thursday evening at 5 p.m., to elect officers for 1922-23 and to decide on other important matters. Members and all those interested in wireless are urgently requested to attend in order that a successful and interesting programme may be arranged for the coming winter.

GLEE CLUB.

Practice to-night at 7 p.m. in the Strathcona Hall. Everybody who intends to belong to this club should make a point of being at this meeting. The new music is expected, and the parts will be given out. It is not too late to join but it soon will be. The practices are short and do not interfere with study hours. The club is noted for the spirit of good fellowship which is felt at these practices. These are only two of the reasons why a fellow should join this club.

MEDICAL EXAMINATIONS.

Students of the First and Second Years who have not already been examined this year, and all students of the higher Years who desire to participate in competitive athletics must be medically examined. Dr. Harvey will be at Molson Hall on Thursday the 19th, October from 5 to 6.15 p.m. Will students in the above classes please note and arrange to be examined at that time.

SECRETARIES.

Secretaries of the different University organizations are advised to send notifications of their respective activities into the "Daily" office to permit of their publication in the paper.

MEDICINE FRESHMEN ELECT THEIR OFFICERS

Freshmen activities in Medicine are in full swing. Plans for the traditional banquet to be tendered to the Sophomores of Class '27, are already well under way.

L. T. Hooker who is looking after "Frosh" sports, has already some very valuable material at his command to represent the Freshmen in the inter-class competitions, at a meeting held recently the following were elected to office:

J. A. Wright, President.
A. Koff, Vice-President.
F. A. Bassen, Secretary.
M. M. Braunstein, Treasurer.
A. G. Dujat, Reporter.

More Reality Than Rhyme.

And the weather was so bright and clear,
I was studying at college, in my eager search for knowledge,
For examination time was near.

But as fate would have it then, it exactly happened when I was romping at a dance one night,
That I met a pretty skirt, with a tendency to flirt,
And who knew the rules of such by sight.

From that day, I can truly say
Though some parts of it be left unsaid,
We had one grand celebration without undue interruption,
And a double life it was I led.

But you know the sad result, it was like a catapult;
For the hours that I spent with her
Should have been confined to toil,
While I burned the midnight oil.

'Tis a moral we should all infer.
Now this year, when exams draw near,
And the call of spring is in the air,
I have made a resolution which will prove a good solution.

To my weakness for the bright-eye stare,
I have quite made up my mind, if a pretty girl I find,
Not to hear the vamp's alluring call;
But perhaps she will insist—oh, well then, I won't resist.

Let the resolution go, that's all.

A little skin as white as milk,
A little strap, how dare she breathe,

A little cough,—good evening Eve!

HARRY LAUDER LISTENED TO BY STUDENTS

An Enthusiastic Gathering Heard Famous Comedian at Tufts College

GOOD ADVICE

Sir Harry Advocated Thrift and Criticized Agitators

Never in the memory of the present college generation have the old walls of Goddard Chapel, Tufts College, ever held a greater, more representative or attentive crowd of listeners than those assembled to hear Sir Harry Lauder at the chapel hour. Probably never since the presence of Herbert Hoover at the 1921 Commencement has the Hill been the host to a man more internationally known than the famous Scotch entertainer. That Tufts College men and women were able to hear and to see Sir Harry in more intimate relationship than that afforded by the Boston Opera House is due to the efforts of Ruth Morris, Jackson '25, whose father, William Morris of New York City, is Lauder's American manager.

By the time the chapel bell had announced the opening of the service, the floor and balcony of the chapel were crowded to standing with Jackson and Tufts students inspired to attend the noon programme with unwonted punctuality and numbers, while on the platform behind the speaker's desk sat the Faculty and members of the Board of Trustees who had gathered at the Hill for their meeting of the afternoon. And while the audience was buzzing over the probable chances of his not appearing, he—"Harry"—suddenly had arrived upon the platform escorted by President Couzens and stood bowing to "his friends."

After the first storm had passed, Dean McClellister stepped forward and announced the simple order of service: hymn, recitational prayer, "Harry." Then when the "amen" had come, the chaplain again came forward to present the speaker who "needs no presentation," and no sooner had the short, sturdy, kilt-clad figure stepped to the front, than the arms of the cheer leader began to wave and the roof to tremble with a Tufts greeting, and seemingly the similarity in sound of the name "Lauder" increased the desire to make it louder—at least such was the result.

Before Sir Harry on the speaker's desk stood a small disk whose service lay in communicating his words to thousands of others in the "great world outside" by radio.

To begin with—or rather after his opening salutation of "Gentlemen (toward the Faculty), "and Students" (to the delighted men and women before him)—the famous laugh-maker spoke seriously. Seriously in so far as his pokes and wit served to exemplify the thoughts which he presented as ones picked by him from his lessons in "the University of Adversity, my only college."

"You are more fortunate than I was at your age. You will be graduates of a college of letters, while I am a graduate of the college of adversity, the one of hard knocks gained from association in the cold world, in contact with my fellow-man. In all my experience, it stretches over thirty-five years, but I am not going to tell you my real age, I am older than that—I have tried to give expression to the thoughts that would help my fellow-man to help himself. Always try to bring happiness to the world at large by affection, and not hell by affliction."

"Try to avoid debt by being thrifty. You have heard it said that it is a habit and saying of the Scotch to be thrifty. It is not a habit or a mere jumble of words. It is a gift. It would be better if all the world were thrifty, even in what was said and how it was said. Be thrifty and you will not want for anything.

"Do not excite your neighbor, do not be an agitator. Agitators are weeds in the garden of industry, they are no good. They drift from one place to another and choke things up. The world is no place for a drifter."

Twenty minutes he spoke of this and of that, and then he reminded his audience and himself that he always liked to leave his listeners laughing, and immediately proceeded to maintain his general rule—too well, indeed, for no sooner had the tumult and the shouting died, and the cheer-leader begun to prepare to lend his audience in a college song than a whispered conspiracy among President Couzens, the chaplain, and the party of the first part resulted in the little Scotchman rising to sing a song himself, "if you'll join me in the chorus."

He began to sing the "Old Tar's Song," which swings into the chorus with the words "Oh, there's somebody waitin' for me," and on the repetition of the refrain began to lead his audience. Any timidity on first hearing their voices in one of "Harry's" newer songs soon died away and bare it.

SCHEDULE FOR BALL GAMES ANNOUNCED

Games to be Held in High School Gym.

LIST STILL OPEN

All Men Must be Physically Examined Before Playing

The first meeting of the Indoor Baseball Club for the present season was held in the Union last evening. The representatives of most of the Years in the college were present and a successful season seems assured, judging from the interest shown.

The result of the draw for the first two weeks of the schedule is as follows: Monday, Oct. 23—Arts '25 vs. Sci. '25, Tuesday, Oct. 24—Sci. '23 vs. Com. '24, Wed., Oct. 25—Com. '25 vs. Med. '24, Thurs., Oct. 26—Sci. '24 vs. Arts '26, Fri., Oct. 27—Arts '23 vs. Sci. '26, Mon., Oct. 30—Med. '27 vs. Arts '24, Tues., Oct. 31—Com. '23 vs. Law '25, Wed., Nov. 1—Dent. '26 vs. Dent. '24, Thurs., Nov. 2—Med. '25 vs. Med. '26.

Fri., Nov. 3—Med. '28 vs. to-be-announced later.

The High School gymnasium will be available from this evening and the following practices have been arranged to take place there this week:

Wed., Oct. 18th—Comm. '23 and Science.

Thurs., Oct. 19th—Sci. '23 and Science '26.

Fri., Oct. 20th—Arts '25 and Dent. '24.

The above teams will play practice games against each other on the dates mentioned. Owing to the limited number of practice hours and the great number of teams entered in the league, it will be necessary whenever possible for two teams to take the same practice hour and to play practice games. Otherwise it will not be possible for each team to obtain sufficient time to practice. If class reps. are unable to obtain individual hours for practice they are advised to see a representative of one of the other years and endeavor to arranged for a practice hour with that other team.

There is still a little room for additional entries but it will not be possible for these teams to arrange games before the end of the schedule published above. If any classes still wish to enter teams and have not done so up to the present time they may hand in their entries at once and still be sure of being placed in the schedule.

The High School will be available for games five nights in the week, and as a result of this, each team will be able to play more games than was possible with the three nights per week on which it was possible to play there last season. All practices will have to take place in Molson Hall, however, and those teams which have not secured an hour and still wish to be advised to apply at the Department of Physical Education in Molson Hall as soon as possible, as there are only a couple of hours still available.

Following is a list of the hours taken by teams and the hours which are still available:

Monday—9-10. Open.
Monday—3-4. Open till Nov. 15.
Monday—11-12. Comm. '24.
Tuesday—2-3. Arts '25.
Tuesday—3-4. Open till Nov. 4th.
Wednesday—9-10. Open.
Wednesday—4-5. Sci. '25.
Wednesday—5-6. Med. '27.
Thursday—2-3. Sci. '24.
Thursday—4-5. Sci. '25.
Thursday—5-6. Med. '27.
Friday—9-10. Arts '24.
Friday—3-4. Open till Nov. 4th.
Friday—5-6. Comm. '25.
Saturday—12-1. Dent. '26.
Saturday—2-3. Med. '28.

These hours above mentioned are for Molson Hall. It is possible that some time may be available on Saturday afternoons but this is not known definitely at present.

Class reps. are reminded of the following things:

All men of all years must be physically examined before taking part in any inter-class game. The hour for physical examination is on Thursday afternoon, Oct. 19th, from 5 till 6.15. Dr. Harvey will be at Molson Hall between these hours.

It will be necessary for the reps. of freshman and the sophomore years to attend to all credits for the practice games. These attendances should be handed in the locker room man at Molson Hall immediately following the practice, and the men appearing on the lists will be given gym attendance. If the reps. do not look after this they will be responsible, not the Baseball Club or the Department of Physical Education. Attendance sheets may be obtained from Miss Lewis in the office at Molson Hall. Attendance for all league games will be looked after by the Baseball Club and the reps. will not have to worry about such attendances.

And men who are willing to act as umpires at these games in the High School gym. are asked to communicate with any member of the executive of the Baseball Club. The Club is willing to take out life insurance on any men sufficiently courageous to consider such a foolhardy step.

MANY PLAYERS INJURED ON SENIOR SQUAD

Philpotts, Flanagan and McGregor on Sick List

LINE CHANGES

Maynard's Protégés Working Hard in Preparation for Game

Information concerning the conditions of the men on the injured list caused some measure of depression in the McGill camp yesterday afternoon. Philpotts, the veteran half-back, and most consistent ground gainer on the Red and White squad, is still out as the result of a bang-up in Varsity game in Toronto on the seventh. The crash affected Phil's kidney and he will be unable to play in the return game with the Blue and White team on Saturday. Philpotts is an extremely difficult man to replace and the McGill team will be under a great disadvantage without his services.

Flanagan pulled a ligament in his ankle in the Queen's contest and the injury does not seem to be responding to treatment as well as might be hoped for. It is still a question whether he will be in condition to enter the game on Saturday.

McGregor is another recent addition to the cripple list. "Doug" bumped his shoulder in the last period of the Queen's game and was not out on the field yesterday afternoon.

The rest of the squad is in good condition and went through a brisk work-out at the Stadium yesterday afternoon. So far as weather was concerned it was one of the best football days the team has had this fall and the men went through their plays in snappy fashion.

Coach Slaughter's latest combination with Crain at quarterback and Campbell at flying wing, seems to be an improvement. Eddie showed up well in his first trial at the pilot's berth. He played a cool steady game and on the whole showed good judgment in the selection of his plays. Campbell Cope, performing in senior company for the first time, performed in admirable style. Cope played a pretty defensive game and his Saturday's performance has clinched the flying wing position.

The outside wings, however, have not been showing up as well as had been anticipated, although Fife played a fairly good game.

The seniors lined up against the junior team for scrimmage yesterday afternoon and the third squad put up a plucky defence. On more than one occasion the junior wings broke through and spilled their opponents' half-backs for a loss.

Reports from Toronto indicate that Jack Maynard is driving his protégés hard in preparation for the big game. Varsity is not taking any chances on underestimating the Red and White. McGill is always known to be a hard fighter on its home grounds, and Maynard is prepared for a merry tussle.

TO HEAR ABOUT STUDENT RELIEF FUND

Miss Margaret Wrong Will Speak on Friday and Saturday

McGill is to have a visit this week from Miss Margaret Wrong, travelling secretary of the World's Student Christian Federation. Miss Wrong is a daughter of Prof. Wrong, of the History Department of Toronto University, and was formerly Dean of Women at University College. Since her appointment as one of the four secretaries of the World's Student Christian Federation she has spent her time in the colleges and universities of Central Europe, and comes here with first-hand impressions of conditions there.

During the past winter Miss Wrong was one of the organizers in charge of the relief work for students carried on by the Federation in European Universities. It may not be generally known that the students of the world have in two years contributed over a million dollars to aid their fellows who are striving in destitution to continue their college courses. As McGill contributed to this work to the extent of more than seven hundred dollars last year it will doubtless be of interest to many students to hear something of the character and extent of the relief activities from one engaged in the operation. The purpose of Miss Wrong's visit, however, is not merely to report on this work, but rather to speak of significant aspects of student life and thought in the countries now suffering most from the effects of the war, and of their bearing upon world problems and relationships.

The McGill Women's Union has called a special meeting to hear Miss Wrong on Friday at 11.00 o'clock. It is expected also that she will be present at the "Conversat" to be given that evening at Strathcona Hall. On Saturday after the Varsity game a supper meeting will be held at the Hall at 6.00 p.m., where about 150 may have an opportunity to hear her speak. She will spend Sunday at Macdonald College.

ARTS-LAW WIN FIRST INTER-FACULTY GAME

Commerce Team to Secure New Material

SCORE 21-5

"Jake" Myers Stars for Arts-Law Combination

The opening game of the Inter-faculty football league took place yesterday afternoon on the Campus. Long before the game started an enthusiastic crowd, composed of the members of the faculties, whose teams were engaged in combat, lined the east and west sides of the Campus, to cheer and encourage their respective teams.

The gods were with the Arts-Law aggregation yesterday, and this team advanced one stage towards the inter-faculty championship, at present held by Science.

Little "Jake" Myers was the outstanding figure of both teams. He was at all time in the thick of the fray, and the success of his team is due, to a great extent, to his effective and clever plays. He is fast, aggressive, and carries the ball extremely well.

The Arts-Law twelve got away soon after the opening whistle and "Bob" Bell playing half-back, scored the first touchdown of the series for the Arts-Law team. During the second quarter Falconer and Cown each scored a touch for Arts-Law, and at half-time this team had piled up fifteen points against their opponents.

Arts-Law, 15; Commerce, 0.

Commerce came into its own during the third quarter, and scored the only touchdown of this period. Munn, the outstanding player for the embryonic financiers, ploughed through the Arts-Law combination for a touch. In the final quarter, Webster plunged through the Commerce squad, and added another five points for Arts-Law. Bronson converted the only ball of the game.

Final score: Arts-Law, 21; Commerce, 5.

The teams lined up as follows:

Commerce. Arts-Law.
McCrae.....full back.....Falconer
Kenrick.....left back.....Bell
Davis.....right back.....Bronson
Milne.....quarter.....Myers
Taprell.....snap back.....Teakle
Mitchell.....r. inside.....Martineau
Munn.....l. inside.....Webster
Woodward.....middle.....Puddicombe
(Capt.)

Phippen.....middle.....Tennoux
Bright.....r. outside.....Stone
Hamilton (Capt.) flying wing
Spares: Commerce—Barry, Glickman, Coleman, Quinlan, Golden. Arts-Law—Miller, Anderson, Thompson.

Commerce are expected to put out a much stronger team in their next game. Cassels, who is out with the track team, and Cummings, formerly of M.A.A.A. intermediates, will make husky and valuable additions.

Medicine had a snappy work-out yesterday, in preparation to their game next week. Manager Hamilton is very confident of his squad, which include such worthies as: Chisholm (Capt.), Boyle, Wight, Caldwell, who plays outside wing; Sprince, a former Bowdoin quarter; Fullerton, Zinck and Sloan.

WATER-POLO TEAM PRACTISES AT 'Y'

Intermediate Team Plays on Friday

The intermediate water poloists, under the expert coaching of Mr. Vernot, have been rounded into a fast and smoothly working team, in preparation for their game on Friday evening, October 20th, at Maisonneuve.

The line-up will be as follows: Goal, Graham-Brown; defense, Forsyth, Anson; forwards, Ross, Vicarson, Monroe. Substitutes—Berwick, Kyle, Moore.

At the practice yesterday evening the line-up was finally decided on the merits of the players. Graham-Brown at goal is nearly as good as a stone-wall and stops seemingly impossible shots. Vicarson, the aggressive and speedy forward is a consistent scorer, and makes shots at all angles, moreover, he is a very hard man to cover. Wade, an "old hand", who played intermediate several years ago, was down or his first practice this year, and may make one of the teams after he gets into shape. His only fault is failure to follow his man closely enough, and Coach Vernot will most likely correct that.

Two senior men were down—Leadley and George Vernot. When it is said that Vernot showed his usual form, that is sufficient.

The intermediates are the champions of 1921, and after Friday's game will move up to the senior division. The first senior game will take place on October 25th.

Students have already met Miss Wrong, and many will recall the splendid impression made by her address and personality at the recent Conference at Muskoka. She should find a very warm welcome at McGill.

TRACK TEAM SHAPING INTO FINE FORM

Inter-Collegiate Meet on Friday Afternoon

R.M.C. WITHDRAW

Varsity and Queen's Trying to Wrest Honours From McGill

The work of getting the track team into shape nears completion at almost the exact time of the meet. So short had been the time of training of several of the men that their work has not been till recently startling. Kennedy is in good form now and should go over the cross-bar at a good height. He is in better shape this year than ever before and if he is fortunate should be a high point winner in the meet. Gaboury is consistently getting a good height on the pole, and if Francis is not going his best "Gab" should slip over the higher mark. Francis did not compete in the meet at Toronto last week. The reason stated in the newspapers being an injured ankle. It is hoped, however, that this star will be on deck Friday, for his work is of interest to the track fans. Gaboury is a veteran at college work and Francis a new-comer. The cold weather and wind may be a factor in this event, for the Red and White star is only slightly handicapped by it owing to the past years' training.

Consiglio, in the hurdles, is not a startling performer but is consistent and certain of placing. He is steady and may put one over on Toronto's star.

In the shot the competition will be close. Bell, of Toronto, is good, so is Jardine, the Red and White performer.

The relay should be a meet by itself. Toronto, and it is said Queen's, have developed some 440 men who can travel. The McGill relay team has not yet been selected, but it will be a fast one.

The meet will be in any event close. The McGill team appears to be certain of a chance to win, yet they have a whole-some respect for Toronto and her men. It is as yet impossible to say what new ability Queen's may have acquired. They have, it is rumored, one or two well-known fast men, and their ability to develop good material is known. The withdrawal of the Royal Military College is to be regretted but the competition will still be keen.

PROVINCIALISM

One of the most regrettable features of Canadian public opinion is its tendency to provincialism. Very few questions of internal policy are considered by Canadians purely as citizens of Canada. Their attitude towards questions of the day is influenced to a large extent by local and provincial feeling, complicated in many cases by racial and religious prejudice.

Prejudices of this kind are unfortunate. There ought to be no place for them in our public life. They do exist, however, and afford great scope for professional agitators, who can always make more noise than people of broader vision, people who can see beyond mere local considerations.

To say that one is "provincial" usually carries with it a kind of reproach, an implication of narrowness and, perhaps, ignorance. It is a fact that if we come to know better people of other communities, other provinces, other lands than our own, our prejudices concerning them tend to disappear. A little personal investigation into some of the many general statements made about other sections of Canada would be salutary for many of us.

A large university ought to play a great part in the work of removing prejudices and local feelings. In such a university as Toronto, where students from all parts of Canada and from many foreign lands are assembled, the mere intercourse of student with student should have a broadening effect, which, however, is only possible where everyone realizes that we all may learn something from others. It is only by getting away from the influence of popular catch-words that the student can form a correct and independent judgment upon questions of the day. Only thus, can he hope, as a graduate, to play an intelligent part in moulding public opinion.—The Varsity.

ARTS MAN WILL BE ORDAINED NOV. 1st

One student will be ordained at the Ordination Service to be held in the Diocesan College Chapel by Bishop Farthing on November 1st. Arthur V. Litchfield, a member of Arts '23, is the Theological student who will soon be a member of the Anglican Clergy of this city. Last summer Litchfield was appointed to assist at St. Clement's Church, Verdun, under another McGill man, Rev. J. F. Morris, B.A., B.D., who graduated with the class of Arts '13, and who later took the degree of B.D. from General Theological Seminary, New York.

"This is a great shock to me," said the condemned man as the executioner pushed in the 2300 volt

GERMANY IS IN UNSETTLED STATE

Restoration of Monarchy is Improbable

Chaos in politics, economics, and in the minds of the people, is the outstanding impression of the situation in Germany made upon Professor G. M. Priest '94 of the University Faculty as a result of his recent 15 month's residence in that country. Professor Priest stated, in an interview granted to a representative of the Princetonian, that during his stay in Germany confusion as contrasted with the pre-war efficiency, reigned supreme.

Economically, the lack of co-ordination is evidenced by the irregular variation in the prices of even ordinary commodities. The uncertainty attached to the value of the mark forces the salesman into an economic gamble. Again, in the system of enforcement, or rather lack of enforcement of police regulations, is brought out the complete absence of order. The strong inclination toward speculation which is but a heightened Teutonic characteristic, is in greater evidence due to the present unsettled conditions.

Mentally, Germany is in a fog. Some of the reactionaries hope to see a restoration of the Hohenzollerns. Others, more far-seeing, would insist that the only chance that Germany has to become once more a great power lies in the return to the old German idealism. At the same time Ludendorff and his party are stirring up in the South all the anti-government feeling that they can.

According to Professor Priest, Ludendorff's plan seems to embrace the following points: Discredit the present government at all costs, make the present conditions intolerable, so that Germany will either plunge into Bolshevism, or react to monarchy. In case the former should turn out to be the result of his propaganda, he relies on the sober sense of the Germans and their love of law and order to lead them to throw off Bolshevism—after a brief experience of it—and then to take part in a great reaction.

Provided that Ludendorff schemes successfully, the question will naturally arise as to whom he will place on the throne. Certainly not the former Kaiser. Even his most ardent supporters admit that he is out of the question. Professor Priest said that he found the opinion prevalent among the Monarchists that the eldest son of the Crown Prince was the most likely choice. That he is but little known is in his favor.

The Monarchists, however, do not want a return to the old system of Hohenzollern government. They would follow the British system of a constitutional monarchy and a responsible government. In spite of this modification as expressed by the reactionaries, it is very doubtful in Professor Priest's mind as to whether the German working class, which is now in virtual control of the country's politics, will allow any return to pre-war days. The common people are proud of what they have accomplished through the revolution, and as a whole they thoroughly hate Ludendorff.

On the other hand German intellectualism, represented by the university professors, is overwhelmingly in favor of an immediate return to the old regime. It would thus seem that with such a small following, Ludendorff would have to base his hopes on conditions steadily growing worse—with a corresponding increase in the general dissatisfaction. It is the general belief, however, that the Wirth Government is the strongest set up since the war, as it has existed for 18 months.

In Germany's relations with other countries, the most striking feature lies in its hatred for Europe. This enmity has been increased since the Armistice, not only on account of France's attitude on the reparations, but also on account of the presence of the army of occupation. Unless conditions improve within a reasonable time, war between the two nations is inevitable. As regards the other world powers, Germany's frame of mind is apathetic.

In the case of the rumored possibility of an alliance between Germany and Russia, Professor Priest concluded, such an alliance is impossible just so long as there is a chance, that through such an alliance, Germany may be drawn into socialism. If it were not for this possibility, Germany would be more than willing to unite with Russia.

Dr. Tait is an eminent psychologist, and has an excellent reputation in Canada and the United States. After the lecture the meeting will be thrown open for discussion. This is one of the most important features of the meeting, as it enables one to state his own opinions and to broaden his outlook by considering the opinions of others.

The question is one which is vitally important to all undergraduates at McGill, and it is hoped that many will avail themselves of this opportunity to hear it discussed. One must not be a student of psychology to appreciate the discussion.

The second meeting of the Psychological Society will continue to keep up the high standard set by the first. The lecture for the second meeting will be entitled "The Psychology of Mysticism."

INTER-YEAR TENNIS NOW UNDER WAY

Seniors and Freshmen Win in Singles

FINALS AWAITED

Seniors Also Win Semi-Final of Doubles

The first round of the Inter-Year Tennis Tournament at R.V.C. was played off at nine o'clock yesterday morning. The years contesting were the Fourth and Third Year represented by Miss Leggett and Miss Matheson respectively. After a very interesting and well-played game, Miss Leggett proved to be the winner. The whole game was remarkably characterized by the good placing, neat back-handers of both players, together with many splendid rallies, chiefly from the back line, which made it evident that both contestants had a high standard of play. The score of the first set was 6-1 for Miss Leggett, and that of the second 6-4. Miss Leggett thus winning this round of the Tournament for Fourth Year.

In the first set Miss Leggett quickly sent the score up in her favor at the beginning, but had to fight hard in the seventh game against Miss Matheson, who made several brilliant returns. After the score had been returning to deuce for some time, however, Miss Leggett, with one of her sweeping returns to the back line, won the game, and consequently the set, 6-1.

The second set was really the crisis of the game, it being impossible to tell who would be the winner and after the eighth game the score was 4-4. Each game was long and the players had to fight hard. In the ninth game, however, Miss Matheson, who was beginning to tire, seemed unable to meet Miss Leggett's strong serves and although playing hard, the set ended in Miss Leggett's favor, 6-4, thus making Fourth Year the winners in the singles.

The Seniors were also successful in the doubles. Miss A. Roy and F. Perry, of Fourth Year, defeated Miss Cameron and Miss Hertzburg, of Third Year, winning two sets, the score in each case being 6-1.

The strong wind blowing at the time prevented any spectacular play. The Seniors, however, were easily the stronger team and the game itself was rather one-sided. Miss Roy and Miss Perry played steady net games, while Miss Cameron and Miss Hertzburg played a long driving game. With the Seniors winning both the singles and doubles of the first round of the Inter-Year Games, even more interest will now be shown and more enthusiasm displayed than before, and results will be anxiously waited for.

The first Inter-Year tennis match between Sophomores and Freshmen was played on Tuesday morning, when Miss A. Silver, representing Second Year, was defeated by Miss R. Dunton, 1st Year representative, the score being 6-3, 6-0.

The match was interesting to watch, as the tennis of the players was not at all alike. Miss Dunton plays a splendid back-hand, as well as fore-hand game, while Miss Silver's strong points are her fore-hand driving and her smashing.

At the beginning of the first set the play was very even, and continued so until the score was 2-2. Then Miss Dunton, by some excellent placing and steady play, made the score 5-2 in her favor. However, Miss Silver was not to be beaten so easily, and, putting up a good fight, won the next game. The last game of the set was won by Miss Dunton, mainly owing to her splendid service.

The second set was shorter, though perhaps harder on the players. The sun was very strong on one side of the court, especially, and this made it difficult for the players to judge their shots exactly. Miss Dunton, playing remarkably steady, brought the score up to 5-0 in her favor. In the last game, however, Miss Silver picked up and was ahead of her opponent, but, either through excitement or nervousness, lost the next three points and the set came to a close in Miss Dunton's favor.

QUIPS AND FRESHMAN ISSUE

On Thursday morning's issue of the "Daily" will be included "Quips" for the first time this season. This section requires no introduction to the mass of "Daily" readers, and it is hoped that its previous popularity will induce a hearty response when it is asked that contributions to appear in Thursday's column be either on the Union notice board or in the "Daily" office by noon today.

On Friday, October the twenty-seventh, it is intended that a "Freshmen's Issue" be published. This is of peculiar interest to the First Year. All articles insofar as possible having to do with Freshmen. Such articles are being eagerly sought and any students who might wish to contribute are requested to send in their contributions at the first opportunity.

FINALS IN TENNIS WON BY FIRST YEAR

Miss R. Dunton the Winner of Prize

In yesterday's "Daily" it was reported that Miss Z. Slack had won the final round of the R.V.C. Consolation Tournament, by defeating Miss Spier. This match was only the semi-final, the final being won by Miss Dunton. Today the final round was played between Miss Slack and Miss R. Dunton, 26, who drew the bye, and was therefore qualified to play in the finals.

In a strenuous three-set match Miss Dunton defeated Miss Slack, thus adding another tennis victory to the Freshman Year.

In the first set each player won her serve until the games stood three all. Miss Slack then took the lead but when the score stood 5-3 Miss Dunton rallied and won the set 7-5. The feature of this set was Miss Dunton's accurate serving and back-line playing. Miss Slack experienced difficulty in keeping her shots within the court.

In the second set Miss Slack steadied down and by clever placing won by score of 9-7. The spectators, mostly Seniors, were shown some excellent tennis for the many deuce games and long rallies made the set very close and exciting.

In the final set Miss Dunton quickly obtained the lead and won by the score of 6-4. Both players were greatly handicapped by the violent gust of wind. By this victory Miss R. Dunton qualifies for the prize offered by Miss Cartwright for the Consolation event.

CONVERSAT TO BE HELD NEXT FRIDAY

A Cordial Invitation Extended to all Students

The social life of the University does not get into full swing until the "Conversat" has come off. It breaks the ice that is apt to settle around co-education. Although primarily, the aim of the "Conversat" is to afford an opportunity to freshmen and other students who are strangers at the University of meeting each other; it has always been the "big get-together" event of the year. This year it is going to be bigger and better than ever. The committee in charge has completed final arrangements and the prospects certainly look good.

Freshettes and Freshmen have come to college with great visions of the social life for which McGill is famous. Here is an opportunity of meeting new people and of making new friends.

The "Conversat" is to be held on Friday, October 20th, at 7:45 p.m. at the Strathcona Hall. The introduction committee is large and on previous occasions has proved itself to be thoroughly efficient.

A cordial invitation is accorded to the entire student body and especially to the girls of R.V.C., and of the Department of Physical Education.

DECLARE WAR ON COLLEGE BETTING

United Action Urged to Eliminate Evil

War to a finish against betting on college athletic games was instituted last week by John L. Griffith, Commissioner of Athletics of middle-west colleges. Com. Griffith stated that he has determined to deal college betting its death blow.

Concerted action by all the universities is necessary, Com. Griffith said, because fraternities of local schools often make pools and lay bets between the two chapters. If pressure were brought on both schools, this would be eliminated. Mr. Griffith says that college betting is an evil because if betting grows with the growth of inter-collegiate games, the opposition to the games will increase so that they will have to be abolished; (2) the betting man bets his father's money in most cases; (3) the betting man has a wrong viewpoint of the game, and is often hypocritical of the team and referees, and (4) when large sums of money are at stake the men lose sight of the great ideal for which they are striving.

The plan of Mr. Griffith is to foster a campaign conducted by members of the coaching staff and also of the faculty, who will give talks to the various fraternities. He aims to secure the support of the various civic clubs for the plan, to secure the pledges of the many pool hall proprietors to oppose betting on college games, to urge civic and university authorities to punish all those who violate these decrees of the conference committee.—The Minnesota Daily.

The old man was sending his son to McGill—and it was a sad parting. "Boy," said the father as he dried his tears on his suspenders' buttons, "always spit on the dice before you roll, and when you start to draw to an inside straight, remember the mortgage on the old farm."

DANCE PROGRAMME IS NOW ANNOUNCED

Six Informal and Three Formal Events
Scheduled

The programme of formal and informal dances for the year has been announced by the Union House Committee. The dates for the informal dances range from November 3rd to March 2nd. These dances are the most popular in the social life of the University and in past years have been exceedingly well patronized by the student body. The accommodation of the ball-room, however, is limited to one hundred and fifty couples, and there is always a keen demand for tickets.

The first formal dance, an important social event of the year is the Junior Promenade, which takes place on November 24th. The Union House Dance is the second formal dance and is scheduled for the early part of the second term. The last and really the biggest social event is the Alma Mater dance on March 16th, which marks the close of the year's social functions.

The schedule drawn up is as follows:
Informal—November 3rd.
Junior Dance—November 24th.
Informal—December 1st.
Informal—December 15th.
Informal—January 26th.
Union House Dance—February; and Informal—February 16th.
Informal—March 2nd.
Alma Mater—March 16th.

TICKETS LIMITED FOR THE DANCANT

Social Event to Follow Varsity Game

The tea dance in the Union this Saturday afternoon marks the first social event under the auspices of the Union House Committee this season. Affairs of this nature are usually successful, as far as the Committee is concerned, the rest depending on the fortunate ones who attend. It is superfluous to say that the House Committee has done everything possible to ensure an enjoyable afternoon and those who attend will certainly testify to this effect.

The Committee has further been fortunate in securing the services of such worthies as Adney "Chub" LeBaron and Simpson, who will perform with the University Dance Orchestra.

Tickets for this event can be secured today from B. C. Rochester (Science) or O. C. McCullough (Commerce) and at the office in the Union.

NEW SUGGESTION FOR SOPHOMORES

Dean Thornton Approves of Hazing Methods at Berkeley University

In drawing attention to the fact that 91,000 Americans lost their lives within eighteen months owing to automobile and other accidents, Dr. Thornton, Dean of the Faculty of Dentistry, made a strong appeal to the members of the Rotary Club, at a luncheon held in the Windsor Hotel yesterday, to do all in their power to support the municipal authorities in an effort to make Montreal a safer, saner and better city. The doctor, in an address on "Things Worth While", stated that the number of automobile tragedies in Montreal is increasing yearly and that it is high time that more stringent by-laws were put into force to lessen the number.

The Dean has great belief in the power of leadership, and for that reason offers a suggestion to sophomores and other initiating forces, a suggestion which he got while in California last summer. One afternoon he was taken by surprise to see a number of recent additions to the student body at Berkeley, dressed in queer garments, standing at busy street car intersections, helping ladies and children off street cars, thereby filling part of their hazing programme.

If this habit were included in the McGill "Rush", the Dean feels sure that it would not only be a pleasant undertaking for students but that it would have a good moral effect upon citizens.

Those who have had experience in trying to cross Sherbrooke street at the corner of McGill College avenue can fully appreciate this opinion and freshmen could easily earn a tin medal by offering their services about six o'clock in the evening, when the traffic is in full swing.

THE SAYING OF OMAR IBN, AL HALIF.

(The Second Caliph.)
Four things come not back:
The spoken word;
The sped arrow;
Time past;
The neglected opportunity.

Behold the prim Freshette,
For class she stands alone,
She doesn't smoke Bull Durham,
But still she rolls her own.

COMMERCE VISITS SHOE MANUFACTORY

The Methods of Operation Demonstrated and Explained

The first of a series of visits to various large industrial plants in the city of Montreal was made yesterday afternoon when, under the arrangement of Dr. Paul Villard, about thirty members of Third Year Commerce invaded the Tetrault Shoe Manufacturing Company. This firm is the largest of its kind in Montreal, and one of the largest on the continent, employing between six and seven hundred workers.

Under the guidance of one of the firm's staff, the visitors were shown through the plant, while every operation from the time the raw material came in until the finished article was shipped, was demonstrated and explained.

For a shoe to be completed, from raw material just cut until it is ready to be shipped, it requires twenty-three days. Every operation, of which there are between 250 and 300, is done by a different person. Wages are paid on the piece-work system, and the guide pointed out that among the women employees these wages varied from nine to forty dollars.

When the leather first comes in, it is sent to the cutting department, where each man cuts a certain part of the shoe. This operation requires a certain amount of skill, for if the leather is cut against the grain the shoe will become baggy. It takes five days before the parts can leave the cutting department.

The next stage is that of stitching these various parts. This work is done entirely by women, and it takes seven days before the shoe can pass on to the next department, where it first begins to take its final shape.

This department is where the inners and uppers are joined.

In the next department the soles are put on and scoured to give them a better appearance, although the guide stated, this took off the best part of the leather. The shoes are then put into a steam room, where the soles are given two days to dry. The temperature in this room varies from 110 degrees upwards and proved quite uncomfortable for some of the visitors. After coming out of the steam room the soles are put under a pressure of half a ton to make them conform to the shape of the foot. This operation requires another day. The soles are then trimmed up a bit more, so that all in all it takes about five days for the soles to be put on.

The shoes are then ready for the next stage, which consists of putting on the heel. The guide mentioned that by this way, about 75 per cent. of the heels they put on were made of rubber. The heels when first put on are much too large, but in the various operations they are trimmed down to the proper size. When first put on, they must also be put in a steam room for two hours to dry. When the heels are trimmed down to the proper size the shoes are then sent on.

They are now ready to be polished, which is done in about five or six operations. When first roughly polished they are sent to the inspectors, who returns any that are blemished. If these blemishes are not detrimental to the shoe they are polished again and sent on.

When the shoes pass the inspector they are sent to the shipping room, where they are matched, arranged, and packed twenty-three days after the raw materials first came in. It is hard to recognize, in the neat, graceful finished shoe, the different parts that are seen in the first stages of cutting.

WHO WILL BE YOUR FRIEND?

This is the time of life when new friendships are made. Students are now placed among new people, and the choosing of friends with whom one will spend the greater part of one's time while in college will naturally take place. Few young people realize that an important part of college life is the choosing of friends. While a large number of friends is desirable still one needs "a friend or two" to make one really happy.

How are you going to choose these friends? For what are you going to value their friendship? Will the choice be made because of fine clothes, family connections, education, money, or fraternity relations? A friend with nothing but any or all of these recommendations might easily turn on you and leave you worse than alone. Warmth and understanding, loyalty and sincerity, are the great things to look for in a friend. Choose your friends carefully and choose real friends, and they will stick closer to you than a brother.
